

HOW TO JOIN RCWC GOOGLE CLASSROOM

To join RCWC's Google Classroom, you will need to use a gmail account.

If you need to set up a gmail account and are not sure how, please click here.

If you already have a gmail account you're welcome to use it. We do, however, recommend that you make a new one specifically for taking courses – it will help you stay organized.

Once you've set up a gmail account, please email the instructor of the course that you want to take. Their name and contact information is included in each course description.

The instructor will then send you the course link and course code.

Click on the course link through your email or go to classroom.google.com. Click the 'join' button of the course you've been invited to OR click on the + sign in the top right corner and enter the course code (also provided by your instructor).

Here is a quick video to help you navigate the Google Classroom (keep in mind, Google Classroom is built for traditional teaching so not everything in the video will be applicable to your experience).

Have fun!
